Security and Privacy Policy Statement

ListOnTheWeb.com is a CyberOceans LLC web solution and is dedicated to safeguarding your privacy online. The following explains how your information will be treated as you make use of our products and services.

Your Information

ListOnTheWeb.com does draw a distinction between information that is provided when registering on the site and information that is provided when creating your listing when listing your property for sale on our Web site.

Personal Information

Personal information is defined as information entered when registering (creating an account) on our Web site. ListOnTheWeb.com does not sell or distribute any of your individual personal information to other companies, marketers or vendors. We will not release any of your personal information to other users without your permission. We may use or provide partners with aggregate information from the information provided by all users.

Listing Information

Listing information is defined as information that is provided when a user signs up (creates an account) to list his/her property on our Web site. In order to provide the maximum exposure for properties listed on our site, ListOnTheWeb.com has formed partnerships with many other listing services on major Internet portals and other web sites. These partners are provided with your listing information so that your property can be viewed with some detail on our partners' sites. "Active Until Sold" and "No Expiration" refers to your ListOnTheWeb.com listing. Distribution to or on any premium partner site(s) through a paid feature or listing package is limited to 3 months from the original purchase date, or until otherwise expressly stated. When your listing information is received by ListOnTheWeb.com, your listing contact information may automatically be transferred to our partners' sites on a daily basis. If you request address specific products or services we will transfer your listing contact information as required by vendors, unless you specify otherwise. All customers email information is excluded from public facing web pages.

Credit Card Information

ListOnTheWeb.com is a free service provided in an altruistic spirit and as a professional courtesy. We do not collect credit card information.

Cookies

In order to enhance your visit with personalized services, ListOnTheWeb.com makes use of cookie technology. A cookie is a small file that is assigned to a user when they register on a Web site. These cookies do not collect personally identifiable information, nor are they shared with our partners and vendors. We also use cookies to make your visit more convenient by saving your password so that you do not have to re-enter it each time you visit our site. We may also use cookie technology to track the way in which customers use the site so that we can provide them with content that caters to their needs. We may use third-party tracking services or third-party advertising services (such as Google's advertising services) that use cookies and clear gifs (also known as "web beacons" or "web bugs") to track non-personally identifiable information about visitors to our site. This helps us measure the utility of our website and the effectiveness of our marketing campaigns. It also helps advertisers reach consumers with messages and offers that are relevant to them. Users may opt out of Google's use of cookies by visiting the Google advertising opt-out page.

IP Address

IP addresses are unique to each computer, and they are used to identify senders and receivers of information over the Internet. ListOnTheWeb.com uses your computer's IP address to administer our Web site and to report aggregate information to our advertisers. Individual user information is not released. When uploading photos, sending email, creating your account and/or listing, your IP address is noted.

About Security

At ListOnTheWeb.com, we are committed to maintaining a secure environment to store and receive your personal information. All of the information transmitted to ListOnTheWeb.com is stored safely and securely behind a firewall. A firewall is a buffer that isolates a network from the Internet.

At ListOnTheWeb.com, we constantly monitor our Web security in order to protect your information. Once your information is received at ListOnTheWeb.com, access to your information is limited.

ListOnTheWeb.com works closely with our partners to ensure your privacy, however we are not responsible for the privacy policy or content of our partners' Web sites.

ListOnTheWeb.com and its subsidiaries will not disclose any of your personal information, except when we have your permission or when we believe in good faith that the law requires it.

Contests and Surveys

ListOnTheWeb.com may occasionally ask users to complete surveys that we use for research and site-improvement purposes. This information may be shared with advertisers on an aggregate basis. Individual user information is not released.

Changing and Editing Your Information

You, as a user, can change or edit your personal information and listing information at any time. This procedure is accomplished by choosing to edit your account information once logged in on our Web site via the Sign In link located in the upper right corner of most every page. If you have any difficulties with, or questions about the modification of personal information or listing information, please contact support@CyberOceans.com.

Unsubscribe / Opt-out

You may elect to opt-out of receiving email communications from us by contacting support@CyberOceans.com.

By adding your email address to our opt-out list, you will not receive any further communication from us (such as newsletters, special offers, or listing email alerts) after 7-10 days (as some emails may already be process). Please note that if you currently have an active home listing, you may still receive communications from buyers interested in your listing.

Conclusion

If you have any questions about our privacy policy and security statement, please email support@CyberOceans.com.

Please revisit this site on occasion to make sure that you have viewed the most recent version of the privacy policy and security statement. ListOnTheWeb.com reserves the right to change any of the information listed on this document and may notify users of any changes and will update the new version of this document to the site at the Privacy Policy & Security Statement link on the Site Map page.
